URGES WAR ON TURKEY

Defense Society Head Petitions Wilson For Declaration.

New York, Aug. 10.—Charles Stewart Davison, chairman of the board of trustees of the American Defense Society, has sent to President Wilson the following brief, prepared by Henry W. Jessup a well-known New York lawyer, pointing out why the United States should declare war against Turkey and Bulgaria immediately:

"The American Defense Society deems it expedient at this juncture to make a statement very respectfully urging the government to declare war on Bulgaria and Turkey. Unless this is done American troops cannot be placed at the disposal of the commander-in-chief of the allied forces to be sent against nations with which we are not at war. If American aid is needed in any of these connections it can only be afforded after a state of war shall be declared to exist.

"Turkey's savage and brutal treatment of her oppressed peoples, has put her outside the pale of civilized nations and the United States has just cause for declaring war on Turkey. She has paid no respect to the American Flag and is reported to have destroyed American missionary property, including its hospital and dispensary. Prior to the news of this occupation a cable was received through the State Department announcing that further telegraphic information might not be possible, that the Turks were at the gate and that all the missionaries had left except two Americans, one a physician and the other a minister, who stuck to their posts for the purpose of preserving the mission plant. The government has not as yet received a satisfactory explanation for this outrage from the Turkish government."

The American Defense Society also thinks that the moral effect of a declaration of war will be important, and it is urged that an expedition landed north of Jaffa could cut off the troops now being sent to attack Gen. Allenby in the Holy Land. "Only when Turkey is defeated will she reform," says the chairman in closing.

ORCHESTRA FROM HUMPHREYS ENTERTAINS AT LAWN FETE

An orchestra of nine pieces from the 5th Engineers' Training Camp, Camp Humphreys, Va., last night gave selections at the lawn fete given on the lawn at the northwest corner of Washington and Queen street by the women of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

It was composed of First Lieut. Leon L. Hammitt, chaplain in charge; Privates Edward Ash, William Ufert, Corp. Kublin, Privates William Fryer, Mariano Izzo, Andrew Eugene, acting sergeant, and Sidney Smith, representing the chaplain.

The music was greatly enjoyed by the large throng attending the affair. The lawn fete will end tonight.

PRICES IN THE MARKET

All Country Products Held at About Former Quotations—Falling Off in Attendants.

The market this morning was not as well atended by country people as last Saturday. The number of buyers also showed a falling off. Prices, in the main, were unchanged and firm.

While there was a slump in the offerings, the supply met the demand Prices of vegetables were as follows:

Potatoes 15 and 18c per quarter peck; corn 30 and 40c per dozen; lima beans 30 and 35 cents per quart; cabbage 5c up; tomatoes 15c per quarter peck; cymlins 3c each; beets 6c per bunch; string beans 20c per quarter peck; cucumbers 2c each; carrots 5c per bunch.

The supply of fruit was limited. Cantaloupes two for 25c; apples 12c per quarter peck; peaches 25c per quarter peck.

Eggs were 50 and 55c per dozen, and butter 50 and 55c per pound.

Chickens brought 50c per pound.

Tomatoes were selling at $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 per box.

AUSTRIA FEELS HUNGER

London, Aug. 10.—There is widespread discontent in the large Austrian towns by a recent rise of 116 per cent in the price of bread, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Zurich today. The Socialist party in Austria has declared that it is impossible for the working classes to bear this increase, and negotiations have been opened with the government over the situation. Meetings of protest have been held in the populous working class districts of Vienna, Prague and Gratz.

Complications are feared, the dispatch adds. Salzburg is declared to have been without bread for the last eight days, while Dalmatia is reported suffering from a "malady of hunger" because of the lack of food.

U. S. "BLACK DEVILS."

Huns Throw Down Rifles And Shout "Kamerad" When They See Colored Face Behind Bayonet.

Washington, Aug. 10.—France has her "Blue Devils"—fierce fighting men.

America has her "Black Devils," fiercer fighting men.

The negro race has already proved itself in this war. Hundreds of African colonials serving in the French and British armies showed the Huns how a black man can fight—but it took the American negro to put the finishing touches on their education.

The result is that while a German soldier might stand up and fight a white soldier, he now flings down his rifle and shouts "Kamerad!" with all his lung power when a negro face shows behind an American bayonet.

So furiously did they fight that they earned a contemptuous but appreciative place in the German official reports of the defeat.

Two negro divisions—the Ninety second and the Ninety-third—are known to be in action on the western front.

Under the first draft there were 737,628 negro registrants, or nearly 8 per cent. of the country's total registration. Of this number 100,000 have been called to camp and the majority of them are now at the front.

About 1,000 negroes, including 250 medical officers, have been commissioned as captains, first lieutenants and second lieutenants.

In addition to the fighting men there are 34 colored chaplains in the army, and 150 negroes with the negro branches of the Young Men's Christian Association at the camps in America and in France.

MURDER TRIAL MONDAY

James Davis, Colored, to Face Jury Monday in Corporation Court for Slaying J. C. Shelhorse, Prohibition Inspector, Which Occurred June 25.

James Davis, colored, charged with shooting and killing J. C. Shelhorse, a state prohibition inspector, will be placed on trial for his life in the Corporation Court at 10 o'clock Monday morning, Judge L. C. Barley presiding. A venire of sixteen has been summoned from which to select a jury of twelve.

About fifteen witnesses have been summoned. It is thought that the case will occupy two days.

It is reported that self defense will be the plea of the accused. It is understood that he will claim that he only fired his pistol when Shelhorse was in the act of drawing a pistol on him.

The accused will be represented by Attorney Robinson Moncure and Commonwealth Attorney S. G. Brent will conduct the prosecution.

The shooting took place aboard a train just as it was entering Alexandria on the night of June 25. Shelhorse attempted to arrest Davis on suspicion of violating the provisions of the state prohibition law.

HUNS GREEDY FOR PREY

Sank Lightship and Steamer, Then Started After Two Vessels At Once

New York, Aug. 10.—The German submarine which on Tuesday afternoon sunk the Diamond Shoals Lightship and the American steamer Merak, was last seen in pursuit of and shelling with two guns a lumber-laden steam schooner and a tramp steamship of about 7,000 tons. This was learned yesterday on the arrival here of the officers and crew of the destroyed Merak.

The Merak, when attacked, the officers said, was about three miles north of the lightship, and the work of her destruction was interrupted long enough for the submarine to disable with gunfire the light vessel's wireless apparatus. After the Merak had been sunk by bombs, the U-boat turned full attention to the lightship and sent her to the bottom. This work had no sooner been completed when the lumber schooner and the tramp hove into sight and the submarine put after them, and so close were they together that the Germans were able to fire on both vessels at the same time using guns mounted fore and aft on the submersible's deck. Five hours later as the boats containing the Merak's crew were approaching the North Carolina coast the men could still hear cannonading indicating the sinking of the two ships had not been completed or that the submarine was engaged with some other craft.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 10.—Officers of a lumber-laden steamer arriving here yesterday reported that last Friday while off Cape Hatteras, their vessels was chased for half an hour by a German submarine. No shots were fired, and so far as they knew the U-boat discharged no torpedoes. The ship escaped harm taking a ziz-zag course and putting on full steam.

REV. M. J. AHERN DEAD.

Former Assistant Pastor of St. Mary's Church Here.

Newport News, Va., Aug. 10.—When the Old Bay Line steamer arrived at Old Point yesterday morning, Rev. A. J. Ahern, chaplain at Old Point Comfort College, was found dead in his stateroom.

Father Ahern left a week or ten days ago for Baltimore on his vacation, and when he left Baltimore on his return he was apparently in the best of health. Yesterday morning when the bell boy called him for Old Point he could get no response. The door to the stateroom was forced and it was found that the priest was dead. Death is thought to have been due to heart trouble.

Father Ahern was fifty-one years old and a native of Winchester, Va. He was widely known throughout the state. His body was sent to Norfolk.

Father Ahern for several years was assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church here and had a host of friends among Protestants as well as Catholics all of whom will be grieved to hear of his death.

LOQUACIOUS NEGRO

Forced His Way Into House Where a Tragedy Had Occurred.

Early last night while the residents over the tragedy which had occurred of North Payne street were excited on that thoroughfare, a young colored man of the faith curist sect forced his way into the house of sorrow and attempted to take charge of the situation. He talked loud and fast, drowning the voices of others, until a policeman ordered him to desist and leave the premises. This he refused to do, and eventually the policeman was compelled to force him into an automobile and take him to the station house, where he was charged with disorderly conduct. As soon as he reached the desk it was apparent that he had a bad case of cacoethes loquendi, or a propensity to play upon the mouth organ. He talked fast and furious, sometimes in appeals to the police justice and then in threats of what was likely to occur should he be locked up.

Several months ago this negro had been fined $50 for carrying a pistol, and it was deemed prudent to search him. The contents of his pockets would have filled a half-peck measure. He carried three pocketbooks, each of which contained money amounting in all to $215. Roots and horse chestnuts, the latter an infallible remedy for keeping rheumatism away when carried in the pockets, were also taken from him, as well as a paper-bound book which contained advertisements of books on fortune-telling, etc. Among his effects was a medal which showed that the darkey is a member of the "Don't Worry Club."

He kept his tongue going with his voice pitched to a high key, and was incessant in asking the amount of bond necessary for his release. He was told he would be kept until this morning, as there was reason to suspec thim of lunacy.

After having remained in the lockup some time he fell asleep from exhaustion, and when brought before the police court this morning he was mum until asked questions. Two lawyers, a doctor and his wife appeared in his behalf. It was at first determined to let a commission de lunatico inquirendo decide his case, but his counsel assured the court that he would be quiet and orderly in the future, and after paying a fine of $5 for disorderly conduct the prisoner was released.

SIXTEEN YEARS OLD BUT DODGES SUBS FIVE TIMES.

On the books of Troop 2 of Ridgefield Park, N. J., he is down as Tenderfoot Scout Richard N. J. Murphy, says William Heyliger in August Boy's Life. But it is now months since he has attended a troop meeting, and he says himself that he does not know when he will find time to take his second class tests. For Scout Murphy has joined Uncle Sam's troop. His hiking ground is the Atlantic Ocean, and he's engaged in the perilous business of carrying food across to the Allies in defiance of the U-boats.

"Been across often?" I asked him.

"Seven times," he answered.

"Any fights?"

"Five."

"And?"

Dick Murphy gave his slow smile. "There's two U-boats will never trouble a ship again," he said.

He is sixteen past—just a slip of a boy, with a twinkle of adventure in his eyes. Only yesterday, it seems, he and I were sharing the same dogtent on the overnight hikes of Troop 2. And now he is a veteran of service. He has stood his watch through the anxious, spray-flung hours of the night. He has heard the guns of war speak, and has felt the thrill and the tension of battle. Yet, when he comes home for a few days at the end of each dangerous trip, he is the same old Scout Murphy—passionately fond of ice cream sodas, ready for a frolic and a laugh, while his tarnished tenderfoot pin all the while fastened on the inside of his brass-buttoned coat that proclaims him a cadet of the American merchant marine.

BELT CLEW IN MURDER

May Lead to Liberation of Lou Hall Held By Fairfax County Authorities on Suspicion of the Crime. Stranger May Have Committed Crime.

The belt that was used to kill 15-year-old Eva Roy, at Burke Station, Va., Tuesday, after she was attacked at a lonely spot near her home, may free Lou Hall, a married man, now in jail, suspected of the crime, and may lead to the capture of the real culprit if Hall is innocent, as he proteris. The belt is too small to have been worn by Hall, and did not belong to the little girl, according to her father.

The belt, which had been identified as only one that a woman would wear, was used by the slayer to hold the girl to the tree in the standing position in which she was found. It was imbedded so tightly in the child's neck that it could not be unhooked, but had to be cut.

Peter Roy, father of the girl, denied yesterday that the belt ever formed part of his daughter's wardrobe. Hall, who is confined in the Fairfax county jail to await the action of the September term of the grand jury, also denies that the belt ever was his, and the fact that it would be impossible for a man of Hall's build to wear such a belt seems to prove his contention.

Sheriff J. R. Allison, of Fairfax county, who arrested Hall, began a search of Mrs. Hall's wardrobe late last night to see if the belt matched any of her clothes. It is the identity of the owner of this belt on which the mystery's solution depends.

Hall is being held without bail. He is vehement in his protests of innocence, and the threats of the countryside are beginning to turn into words of encouragement. The evidence is so purely circumstantial that all are more than willing to give the benefit of the doubt to the prisoner, until more conclusive evidence is produced.

Sheriff Alison is working also on the theory that a stranger passing through that part of the country might have committed the crime, and this contention partly is borne out by the fact that a prisoner had escaped from Occoquan only a few days before, and was reported passing through the woods near Burke Station. The case was complicated further by the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of Wilbur Wooster, a 17-year-old negro youth, charging him with an attack on a negro girl. Whether this arrest would have any bearing on the Roy murder could not be learned last night.

Amusements

When the name of Cecil B. De Mille is coupled with a production it insures above all artistry. The man who produced "Joan the Woman," "The Woman God Forgot," "The Whispering Chorus," "Old Wives for New," etc., scarcely needs an introduction to film patrons. And at the Richmond Theater tonight his latest effort will be shown. It is "We Can't Have Everything," based upon Rupert Hughes' celebrated novel. The theme of the picture deals with the problems of marriage and divorce in modern society and its development is prolific of unusually captivating situations which are of compelling interest. The entire production is one of great power, exceeding in point. This is practically an all-star production, all of the players appearing therein being entitled to stellar honors. These include such distinguished players as Kathlyn Williams, Elliott Dexter, Wanda Hawley, Sylvia Breamer, Thurston Hall Raymond Hatton, Tully Marshall, Sylvia Ashton, Charles Ogle and Theodore Roberts.

SURPRISE—At the Surprise tonight Mary Miles Minter will be seen in "The Ghost of Rosa Taylor." Billy Rhodes will be shown as an extra attraction in a Strand Comedy.

A NEW VENTURE.

Harry Fleischmann, former proprietor of the Hotel Fleischman, this city, and recently connected with the Raleigh Hotel, Washington, today opened an up-to-date delicatessen at 820 King street. Mr. Fleischmann has had many years experience as a caterer and his friends are quite sure that his new venture will meet with the sucss that it deserves.

C. E. GAMBLE DISMISSED FROM ARMY AWAITING EXECUTION FOR MURDER

Private Charles E. Gamble of the 154th Depot Brigade, who has been sentenced to die in October, in connection with the murder of John P. Werres, a government printing office employe, was discharged from the Army yesterday to remove a possible obstacle to the carrying out of the sentence.

Werres was murdered on a road in Alexandria county, Va. Private Robt. Newman, another soldier, and Mrs. Catherine Burgess, of Laurel, Md., who were with Gamble the night of the murder, are awaiting trial in the Alexandria county courthouse.

HUNS STILL RETREAT

More Than 17,000 Prisoners And 200 Guns Taken by Allies—British in Railway Center of Rosieres.

London, Aug. 10.—American troops are participating in the Picardy drive, the British war office announced today.

Co-operating with the British they took all their objectives, including Morlancourt, where the Germans had made their stiffest resistance and held up the left wing of the allied drive.

Montdidier is threatened from the southeastward by the new French thrust.

More than 24,000 prisoners have been taken.

The British and French drive has been extended to a front of more than thirty miles from the Ancre river to south of Montdidier.

Paris, Aug. 10. (12:10 p. m.)—Suddenly attacking south of Montdidier, French troops have practically surrounded the city, the French official communique indicated today.

The new attack was made on the three-mile front between Ayencourt and Le Fretoy, the French penetrating four miles northeastward to Favrolles, three miles directly east of Montdidier. They took 2,000 prisoners.

In this thrust the villages of Rubescourt and Assainvillers were captured.

Fighting throughout yesterday evening and last night, the French also continued their pressure southward toward Montdidier, advancing more than a mile and taking Davenscourt, four miles north of the city.

"French troops, operating on the right of the British, continued their progress yesterday evening and last night," the communique said.

"We progressed eastward of Arvillers and took Davenscourt.

Paris, Aug. 10.—American troops have captured the village of Fismette, on the north bank of the Vesle river, a short distance northwest of Fismes. With the village they took 100 prisoners.

London, Aug. 10.—An unconfirmed report reaching London says the British troops are now in Rosieres, the junction point of the north and south railroad line midway between Montdidier and Albert.

Canadian troops have captured Warvillers, about two and a half miles south of Rosieres, while the French have taken Arvillers, to the southwest of Warvillers and seven miles from Roye. The Germans recaptured Chipilly, north of the two War-Somme, cap- i D.. dorr hor Somme, by a strong counter-attack today.

London, Aug. 10.—More than 17,000 prisoners have been captured by the Allies in the Somme drive up to noon yesterday according to advices yesterday afternoon.

More than 200 guns also have been taken.

The Canadians, the advices state, have taken the town of Beaufort, two and a half miles southwest of Rosieres.

The Australians are fighting further north, along the Somme.

The figure of 17,000 prisoners taken embraces the number that had been accounted. Of these the French reported that they had taken more than 4,000, while the British total at noon was more than 13,000. The French have been doing good work today on the south of the new drive and probably have taken many additional prisoners there.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 10.—It is reported that a German divisional general has been captured in the drive.

Prisoners rounded up by the British cavalry divisions are coming back rapidly.

SHOOTS HER FATHER

Miss Helen Barnhouse, 18 Years Old, Shot And Killed Her Father Last Night Following an Attack by Dead Man on Her Mother. Inquest Wednesday Night.

Enraged at the action of her father, Sidney J. Barnhouse, about fifty years old, a locomotive engineer, in attacking her mother, Mrs. Cora Barnhouse, their daughter, Miss Helen E. Barnhouse, eighteen years old, early last night picked up the father's pistol from a dresser in the bedroom and shot her father through the head. Barnhouse lived less than half an hour after the shooting. The tragedy was enacted at the family residence, 426 North Payne Street.

Immediately after the shooting Dr. Hugh McGuire was summoned and an ambulance called. Barnhouse, however, expired a few minutes after the arrival of the physician.

The body of Barnhouse was removed to Demaine's mortuary chapel and Coroner T. M. Jones summoned a jury which met at 11 o'clock last night. The jury after viewing the body adjourned over until 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night when testimony will be heard.

The jury is composed of James Foster, Thomas M. Dunbarr, E. J. Fleming, Maurice Wilkins, James McFadden, Thomas Chauncey.

Mrs. Barnhouse accompanied her daughter to police headquarters at 10 o'clock last night and Justice Thompson at a special session of court, after hearing the statements of mother and daughter, continued the hearing for ten days and released the young woman in the custody of her mother.

Miss Barnhouse collapsed after the shooting.

They were accompanied to the station house by Sergt. Roberts and Policeman Gill.

The only statement made to the court by the young woman as she sat in a chair with her left hand to her forehead, was "I don't know what I was doing, I just shot him because he attacked mother."

Mrs. Barnhouse testified that her husband got such spells when he was drinking. For the past twelve years she said she had been trying to keep things quiet. She added that her laughter who did the shooting for the past three months, since she left the hospital where she was treated for peritonitis, had nervous and hysterical spells.

According to Mrs. Barnhouse her husband at 7 o'clock last night began scolding Frances, their 12-year-old daughter. The child was crying and she spoke to him about it. Barnhouse then turned on her she said and chased her upstairs and attempted to grab her at the landing on the second floor while in the hallway. At this juncture the daughter, who had just come from the bathroom, grabbed Barnhouse's pistol from a dresser in the adoining room and fired the fatal shot.

Barnhouse fell like a stone as the shot rang out.

Barnhouse was employed as a locomotive engineer by the Washington-Southern Railway Company and for several years past had been in charge of a yard engine at the Potomac railroad yards.

In addition to his wife he is survived by three daughters as follows: Misses Cora, Helen E., and Frances. Barnhouse came to Alexandria more than twenty years ago from Maryland, and had lived here ever since. He owned his own home where the tragedy occurred.

CHURCH WILL CHANGE HOURS.

On account of the extreme heat it has been thought best to change the hour of the people's open air service in Christ Church yard from 5 to 7 o'clock, and the organ recital will be held at 6:30 instead of at 4:30.

The Rev. Wallace E. Rollins, of the Theological Seminary, will preach at both the eleven and seven o'clock services tomorrow. Dr. Rollins is considered one of the ablest preachers in this section of the country.

The Men's Bible Class will meet in the church at 9:30, with Judge Louis C. Barley, as leader. The Sunday School will meet at 9:30 in the Parish Hall, the lesson will be on Christian worship. John W. Herndon will be the leader at the morning prayer.

At the organ recital, which will be held in the church immediately after the open air service, selections will be rendered by Mrs. Lennon and solos will be sung by Master Lyman McCreary.

TRAGEDY AND ITS WARNING.

The unfortunate occurrence in a well-known Alexandria family early last night is the main subject of conversation in our city. It is the old, old story—the paterfamilies had been drinking—and his debauch had ended in a terrible and unlooked-for tragedy. The husband had attacked his wife and his daughter rendered her mother a widow and herself and two sisters fatherless by the use of a pistol.

We occasionally read of such sad occurrences in other places, but this is the first one which has occurred in our midst.

The scene in the Police Court last night was pathetic. A widow of but a few hours, who, according to her statement, had long labored under a heavy burden, and a daughter just entering womanhood, nervous and fretful, were the principal figures.

The nervous system of the young woman was deranged. She was unable to testify. Her mother, who had long silently suffered, composed herself sufficiently to tell the sad story

In an ill-timed moment her daughter, whose nerves had been unstrung from the effects of suffering from the knife while undergoing an operation for appendicitis, had secured her father's pistol and sent a bullet into his brain while he was ill-treat-her mother.

Like most wives, she was quick to describe the good that was manifest in her husband while he was in his normal condition, but the evil when under the influence of stimulants.

Much of the trouble in this world is traced to the intemperate use of liquor. This enemy which steals away the brains has different effects upon different individuals. It brings out the good nature of many, but the evil in others.

A miller in Germany over a hundred years ago had been a terror to his family for years. He was a degenerate of the lowest type, and after his children reached years of maturity they held a family council and determined to rid their home of what they considered a monster. They employed an assasin, and after the head of the family had been disposed of the plot was unraveled. The case came before a jury which acquitted the children of the charge of murder.

MINISTERS AS LABORERS.

About five hundred Christian ministers are known to be at work in munition factories, ship yards or other war industries as day laborers for pay. These ministers are Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Lutheran and Jew, although there may be others in the number, and they are chiefly in the war industries in cities along Atlantic seaboard from New Haven on the east to Norfolk on the south. In one case, that of the well-known Jewish rabbi, the Rev. Dr. Stephen S. Wise, money received by the worker is given to charity. In one case in Newark a minister began as a common laborer, but was advanced at once, owiny to ability shown.

Reasons given for the step, by some who have ben asked, are rarely that of money-making. They are that this is no time to go on vacations—when American boys are on the ront ;that it is essential to the future careers of ministers that they have records of things actually done to win the war, if they are to have influence with fighting men ater their return; and that, there being no opportunities for them to go as chaplains or Y. M. C. A. secretaries, they are determined to do something militant and worth while. A few admit taking up labor to help out finances of their churches, since few interests have suffered loss of income to the extent of churches, owing to absence of supporters gone to war. Some leaders in position to know assert that far more than five hundred ministers are working as day laborers, if full records were kept.

LACKS STATESMEN.

It is suggested that the foolish prattle of von Hertling about the conditions on which Germany will grant peace emphasizes the imperative need of some statesmen in Germany.

The nation which has been unable to defeat France and England now confronts the incalculable resources of America. And the Chancellor, who knows that Germany is beaten, flatters the Kaiser by listing the demands upon the admission of which Germany will grant peace to the four powerful nations that have it and Austria by the throat.

The German people are looking to the Kaiser to seek peace. The Kaiser will never seek peace unless the people buly him into it, or some of the greatest men in Germany venture to tell him unasked that he must seek peace.

For four years Germany fought England and France without success. Even after the Russian collapse it could not beat those two enemies. In the fifth year of the war those two enemies are joined by America, with already nearly a million and a half of the finest fighters in the world in action. Germany has no choice. If the people are willing to be slaughtered an army can be kept in the field for the rest of this year; possibly for another year. But every month puts more Americans on the firing line, and it is impossible for Germany to win.

AFTER SPEEDERS.

The members of the military police now performing duty in Alexandria are on the lookout for automobilists who exceed the speed limit. One violator of the law was taken in custody yesterday for operating his machine at an unlawful speed within the city limits. He left $10 collateral for his appearance tonight. Another soldier-policeman took two men in custody shortly after noon today charged with similar offenses. When brought before the Police Court the accused acknowledged they were exceeding the speed limit and were fined $10 each.

DO IT FOR BABY.

By Ruth Danenhower Wilson of the Vigilantes.

"I have found a perfect routine for my baby," a young mother said to me last fall about her eleven-months-old son. "I've at last found just the food that agrees with him. He weighs exactly the average for his age. I've learned just the amount of food and sleep and air and exercise he ought to have. Now I'm going to stop thinking about him, go along in the same routine and devote my energy to war work."

Five months later her baby was very ill. The doctor who had last seen him rosy and healthful at eleven months found him underweight, white, flabby and anaemic. All of which was leading to rickets.

What had happened under the perfect regime? Simply that what was perfect for eleven months was not right for twelve, was still worse for thirteen, and at sixteen months the baby was in a serious condition of under-nourishment.

Almost as soon as we mothers feel we have found the right routine it is time to change it. Let us give all possible time to war work, but never for a moment relax our thought for baby's care, for that is very important war work.

A baby under a year old that is not nursed should have its food increased slightly about every two weeks. After a year the diet may be gradually enlarged and strengthened about every month or six weeks according to the individual baby's appetite and digestion.

If our babies stood still in their development we should be in a fair way of losing them.

Remember that babies are like flying aeroplanes. If they stop they fall.

(Any mother who does not know "what to do" for her baby has only to write to the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor at Washington, and helpful pamphlets, written by specialists, will come to her at once).

The Merriwether Lewis Memorial Board, composed of citizens of Ivy Albemarle county, Va., the purpose of which is to erect at acost of $75,000 a community school as a memorial to Merriwether Lewis, leader of the famous Lewis and Clarke Expedition to the Pacific Coast in 1804-1805, which first opened up the great West, will celebrate the birth of Merriwether Lewis August 18th. It is proposed to erect the school at Ivy, Va.

Arthur Beverly, an Amherst county Indian, has been landed in jail at Lynchburg as a slacker. The Indian is one of eight who were hunted by deputy marshals in the mountains of Amherst county and Beverly alone has been captured. The others are said to be heavily armed and will resist arrest. They belong to a small tribe of Indians who have lived about ten miles from Lynchburg since the advent of the white man.

Norfolk is facing the most serious ice situation in the history of the city. Hotels, restaurants, hundreds of soda fountains and thousands of homes have been without an ample supply of ice during the past two days and suffering is intense, especially in the congested sections of the city. A committee investigating the situation yesterday recommended the abrogation of all contracts for ice made prior to the hot wave now gripping the section, the guarding of the ice-making plants by home guards and the distribution of ice cards by the police. In order that street car service may be maintained during all hours of the day, which has been impossible for three days past, electric current has been cut off from every large industry engaged in other than absolutely essential war work. This drastic action followed several days of almost complete transportation paralysis in Norfolk, Portsmouth and suburban sections.

Charles W. Morris, conscientious objector, extreme pacifist and Russellite, must serve a 90-day jail sentence for making statements which oppose the government in its conduct of the war. Morris pleaded guilty before the Federal court in Roanoke Thursday. In reply to a question asked by the court he said that he would tamely submit if the Turks sent an army to America, seized our women and took them to the harems of Turkish officers. It was learned in the course of the trial that Morris had been distributing Russellite literature about the city. When questioned in regard to this, the prisoner said that his purpose in life was to spread the doctrine of non-resistance.

During the terrific rainstorm Wednesday at the large bank barn on the farm of H. A. Cline, one mile west of Culpeper, was struck and burned to the ground with contents. Loss from $4,000 to $5,000. Small insurance. One mile farther west, on the farm of John Griffin, three wheat-stacks were also burned. Loss, 250 bushels of wheat. On the same night, near Brandy, the immense barn of Aleck Swan was burned. Loss from $6,000 to $7,000. Small insurance.

Mrs. Douglas Knox, of Fredericksburg, has received a letter from the Red Cross in France telling her of the death of her son, Private Douglas H. Knox, of the U. S. marine corps, in a hospital, after being wounded in battle in France. Young Knox is the first Freedricksburg boy to lose his life in battle, so far as is known.

News has been received in Harrisonburg of the death of Cristie Walker, in a hospital at Camp Sam Houston, Texas. He was injured in an aeroplane accident. He is the son of Mrs. Kate Walker and a former resident of Harrisonburg.

The Stanley L. Seaman, a schooner, owned by Crowell and Thurlow, Boston, and out of Newport News for a foreign port, was sunk by a bomb placed by a submarine at 11:30 a. m., August 5, when 110 miles east of Cape Hatteras. Capt. W. C. McAloney and crew of eight men arrived here this afternoon, after being three days in a launch in the Gulf Stream, having been picked up by a British vessel. Capt. McAloney describes the submarine as the U-132, 350 feet long, mounting four guns—two 6-inch fore and aft conning tower, two small guns on either side.

Three men were killed and two injured in the collapse of a marine tower at a grain elevator on the river front at Detroit late Thursday. The men were working in the tower nearly one hundred feet from the ground, when it suddenly toppled over.

Lee Frank Krebbs, while milking a cow in a field near the home of his uncle, C. Y. Bayard, at Sprink Creek, near Harrisonburg, was struck by lightning Wednesday and instantly killed. The same bolt killed two cows in the field and stunned his aunt, who was with him. Young Krebbs was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krebbs, of Winchester, and was 18 years of age. During the same storm three barns in the county were struck and burned to the ground.

It was announced yesterday in Newport News that the Emergency Fleet Corporation had taken over the operation of the Newcomb Shipbuilding and Dock Company located at Hampton. The company has on hand about twelve contracts for the government.

"PETER-OUT" PATRIOTS

By Elis Parker Butler

of The Vigilantes

The verb "to peter-out' 'is a queer one. The dictionary says its origin is uncertain, but I have an idea it comes from the Peter whose loyalty to Christ faltered when the cock crew thrice. He was faithful when the cock crew once, and when the cock crew twice, but his morale weakened as the long night dragged. He "petered-out." He "came back," however. He was the rock on which the church was founded at last.

The American who weakens and then strengthens is not as bad as the Judas who sells his country. He can "come back."

The patriot who weakens and then "comes back" only comes back because there are others who do not weaken. If we all weakened it would be all over with us, and with patriotism, and with America. Freedom would be dead; autocracy would rule.

Don't you be the one to weaken! Don't you be the "peter-out" patriot. Perhaps you canvassed in the last Red Cross or Liberty Loan campaign, and in the one before that, and the one before that, but now you are so tired! You'll let some other fellow do it.

Don't do that! Buck up! You've made a good record so far; keep it up. Let on that you've enlisted for the war; if you "peter out" you are a deserter.

And don't think it will not be known. Already, here and there, you hear people saying of this one and that one, "Oh! he's a peter-out patriot. He was mighty wonderful while the job was fresh and interesting but look at him now! He's quit!"

The peter-out patriot is noticed because there are so few of him. He sticks up like a sore thumb. He is the woman who was going to let her automobile be used whenever needed for loyal work and who just can't spare it now. He is the man who was eager to write for the Vigilantes until the novelty wore off. He is the child who gave up gum and candy to buy Thrift Stamps, until she forgot. He is the man who ate rationally until he lost the novelty of it and then began stuffing his over-extended belly again. He is the woman who planted her garden but stopped cultivating it when the sun grew hot. He is the man who shouts when the band goes by, and never does another blessed thing to help win the war.

The peter-out patriot is the curse of any country. He rushes in at all beginnings. He is the man who makes this loyal organization show a huge membership that gradually peters-out. He is the man who boosts his town's subscription to the Liberty Loan and then fails to pay his installments. He is the man with the mental and moral hook-worm. His bump of grit is a hollow. His real love for his country is a pig's love for a troughful. Even a pig will rush to the gate and grunt joyfully when its master appears, but it has a short memory.

Instead of being a peter-out patriot, be a bull-dog. Take hold and hang on. Grab a little more work between growls. There will be two phrases of honor some day. One will be "He gave his life for his country." The other will be "He did his level best for his country all through the war." There will be two great phrases of disgrace. One will be "He was shot as a deserter." The other will be "He petered-out!"

To the People of Alexandria

We are compelled to postpone the opening of our Alexandria Market

This postponement is caused by delay in building materials needed to complete our plant.

We are doing all we can to hurry the work along, and we will shortly announce in the Gazette the date of opening.

In the meantime we ask your indulgence, assuring you of our sincere regret of this delay.

OLD DUTCH MARKET

Announcement

Owing to labor conditions it has become necessary during the extreme hot weather we are now experiencing to appeal to those who have conveyances to assist us by purchasing ICE at our plant, thereby releasing to those who have no means to convey ICE, or are unable to do so, such equipment as we are able to operate with our limited labor supply.

There is no shortage of ICE in Alexandria, as we have an abundant supply, but our service is below the standard owing to labor conditions, and we earnestly request the co-operation of the Public that as little inconvenience as possible may be felt by the citizens of Alexandria in general.

We also appeal for firemen, ice pullers and helpers for the operation of our plants, all of which are on the eight-hour basis and good wages paid.

Better Cooking by Electricity

Women have long known that electric cooking is cleaner, that it banishes all the dust and ashes of coal and wood and soot and fumes of gas. They have known that it makes the kitchen cooler; the air purer; that is the most convenient way to cook. Now they have the word of the women who stand for the most scientific cooking methods known, that electric cooking produces better results than any other means.

Let us demonstrate the various sizes of ranges and refer you to the satisfied electric range users.

BOLSHEVIK BACK IS UP

Lenine Announces State of War With Entente Allies

Washington, Aug. 10. — American Consul Poole, at Moscow, has informed the State Department that Lenine, the Bolsheviki premier, recently declared before a gathering of Soviets in Moscow, that a state of war existed between the Russian government and the Entente Allies. In response to questions from the allied consuls, Tchitcherin, commissary of foreign affairs, said the premier's statement need not be considered a declaration of war, but that it rather was a declaration of a state of defense on the part of Russia similar to the situation that exised at one time with Germany.

The consul's report, received by cable yesterday gave the State Department its first official information confirming reports that the Bolsheviki were formally characterizing as an act of war the operations of allied forces on the Murmansk coast. The attitude of Lenine may tend to clarify the situation and strengthen the understanding between the allies and the new Russian government of the north.

Tchitcherin's explanation was made publicly, the consul said, at the request of the allied consuls. Mr. Poole also reported that in spite of denials of the authorities the Bolsheviki were throwing obstacles in the way of the departure from Russia of British and French military representatives.

Gen. Kikuzo Otani, one of Japan's most distinguished soldiers, has been chosen to command the Japanese section and wil lbe the ranking officer of the American and Allied expedition in Siberia.

As senior officer, General Otani in effect will be comamnder-in-chief of the combined forces, with the consent of the various governments participating. Maj. Gen. William S. Graves in command of the American contingent, will sit in the council of allied commanders performing the duties of a staff.

First. Lieut. Thomas R. Evans, of Santa Cruz, Cal., and Corporal Geo. D. Sensey, of Ridgefield Park, N. J., were killed yesterday in an airplane accident at Colon. The plane in which they were flying dropped in Colon Bay in 40 feet of water, and the men, strapped in the machine, were drowned.

"No Time To Be Hating Each Other."

by Arthur E. Hungerford.

London, Aug. 10.—"This is no time to be hating each other for the love of God," exclaimed a Roman Catholic priest, when a newcomer from the States remarked about his work in a Y. M. C. A. hut in England. This remark has gone up and down the American camps in France and England and typifies the spirit of Roman Catholics and Protestants alike in working for the common good of the American soldier.

At a great rest camp in England where thousads of American troops are sent after landing to rest for six or seven days before going on to France, a man, who back home is a Presbyterian minister, may be heard urging Roman Catholic soldiers to make their confessions and go to mass. More than that he arranges for the priest to visit the camp, turns his ofifce over for a confessional and prepares the hut for mass at 9:30 on Sunday morning.

This man is the Rev. G. William Russell, who was assistant pastor of Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. Here is a typical example of how he looks after the spiritual welfare of the Roman Catholics. It took place on a Friday evening.

"How many of you are Roman Catholics?" he asked of a crowd of soldiers gathered in a "Y" hut. More than half of them raised their hands.

"Men, I have arranged for Father Gile, an English Chaplain, to come tomorrow night to receive your confessions. He will use my ofifce. He will celebrate mass on Sunday morning at 9:30 in this hut. Won't you come? I am a Protestant, but you men have just escaped the perils of the submarine. Attend mass and then write home to your mothers or wives or sweethearts that one of the first things you did upon landing was to make your confession, attend mass and thank God for your safety. We have a Roman Catholic secretary here. If any of you want to meet him you may do so by asking for him."

Nearly every man attended mass and many called on the Rev. Mr. Russell to thank him for giving them the opportunity to do so.

At a camp in Ireland, where the American Y. M. C. A. is compelled to use a building, the original owners of which put a stiuplation in the deed that it should never be used for a Roman Catholic service of any kind, the association secretary every Sunday morning arranges a church party for the Roman Catholic soldiers and carries them in trucks to their church three miles away. After service he brings them back.

The services conducted by the Y. M. C. A. are attended not only by Protestants, but also by Jews and Roman Catholics. They are not formal to say the least. At some of the huts the men are allowed to smoke during religious services. This comes as a shock to many of the new workers and ministers. It must be remembered, however, that the services are held in "Y" huts which not only serve as the religious, social and recreational centers but frequently as the general stores of the camps. As one secretary put it:

"I would rather have a religious service in a hut chuck full of men smoking, than a more formal service with only one or two men inside and all the rest turned out of doors. A religion that won't stand every day wear and tear won't last long over here. I have learned many things since I came over here. That is one of them.

"Harris Dickson, the writer, was right when he said that many of us "Y" men came over here with long faces, but thank God they are growing shorter every day. Mine has grown considerably shorter. I have learned over here the practical side of religion."

A nice thing happened to the Rev. Mr. Russell. A Philadelphia boy was afraid his mother might worry about the kind of life he was leading. He told Mr. Russell, who said:

"Don't worry about that. I will write to her." He did so and in reply received a letter saying in part:

"I attended the farewell service given you at Bethlehem Church, Philadelphia. I contributed to the money given you; but I did not realize that it would be my boy that you would help over there."

KILLED WIFE BY ACCIDENT

Woman Receives Charge of Shot Intended for Chicken Hawks

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 10.—Running into a field with a shotgun when informed that hawks were carrying off chickens Thursday morning, James Cannon, aged about 25 years, a tenant on the Racine farm, near Porters, Del., stumbled and the weapon was discharged. The load struck Mrs. Cannon, who was near by, causing instant death.

Mrs. Canon was carried to her home and a physician called, but he could do nothing, the charge of shot having torn a portion of her right side away.

The shooting was reported to Coroner Spring, who is making an investigation, but it is thought by the authorities that the shooting was accidental, as Mrs. Cannon had been watching for the hawks and had called her husband just prior to the shooting.

CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many an Alexandria Household

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Alexandria readers.

Mrs. Minnie E. Posey, 125 Duke street, Alexandria, says: "Grip left my kidneys in a bad way. My back ached so badly I could hardly endure it and I couldn't rest in any position. My kidneys acted irregularly and caused me a lot of misery. I felt tired and languid all the time, my head ached and I was so dizzy I could hardly get around. After taking a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Warfield's Drug Store, I got great relief. I used only two boxes of Doan's, but since then my kidneys have caused me very little trouble, my back has never ached and my health has been good."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Posey had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

ADVICE NOT NEEDED

Wanton Ruin Seen at Every Hand In France Arouses Ire of Home Men.

London, Aug. 10.—Colonel Roosevelt's advice of not to hit soft is hardly needed by the American troops between Soissons and Rheims, says Reuter's correspondent on the American front. There has been no soft hitting on the part of the Americans thus far, nor any inclination in that direction.

"The Germans asked for a rough war and, by Heaven, we are here to see that they get it," is the remark of one American soldier reported by the correspondent, who says that the Germans who fought in the Marne salient doubtlessly realize that fact.

"If, however," the correspondent continues, "German officers, instead of telling their men lies about 'American barbarians,' would refrain from acts which produce a white heat of American hostility, it would be more to their advantage. The vast bulk of American soldiers are home men. Gentle and kindly things recalling their homes in the West appeal to them as nothing else does, and the awful ruin of the French homes past which they have been marching mile upon mile and hour after hour has seemed more distressing to many of them than their own losses.

"They accept the ruin as inevitable, however, giving the Germans the benefit of the doubt, but when in clearing up these ruins, they come upon indisputable evidence of Teutonic savagery it has a very different effect. An American showed me a doll house which had been stamped flat under a German boot with the dolls laid around it each with its face ground into the floor by a nailed German heel.

"There were much more horrible things in the house—things beyond discription—but the American rightly picked that out as most characteristic and most dastardly. With a look on his face that would have warned any opponent to keep his distance, the American said:

"'The next damned German that tries to murder me had better make sure that he makes no mistake about it.'"

GRAND OPERA SINGER WEILDS PICK AT CAMP HUMPHREYS.

Prominent among the 2,000 members of the 5th Regiment, a command composed exclusively of draft men from New York City and Brooklyn, is G. de Ariagroff of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and a former member of the imperial guard of the late Nicholas Romanoff, former czar.

Private de Ariagroff, who a few days ago was earning thousands of dollars a week as an opera singer, handles the pick, shovel and stump puller during the day for Uncle Sam for $30 a month, but after the day's work is done, when Humphrey's hard-working engineers drift over to the big open-air theater, near headquarters, for the "evening sing" he comes into his own again.

Private de Ariagroff is a member of the 9th Company, commanded by Lieut. H. A. Thackrey, of Kansas, who recently returned from France, where he was on duty with engineer troops in the Toul sector.

The desire of the military authorities that he Army be a singing Army is finding its fulfillment here, under the direction of J. W. Reynolds, cantonment singing master.

Mr. Reynolds, who was formerly evangelist singer with Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman and "Gypsy" Smith, has obtained wonderful results with his pupils. His latest plan to encourage chorus singing among the soldiers is to visit them while they are at work digging trenches or pulling stumps. If it is time for a "rest" period, the officer in charge will call a halt and soon the whole battalion sings under the inspiring leadership of the song leader. There is probably no other camp in the country where practically all the soldiers meet each evening for chorus singing.

Private William Dillon, of the 8th Companny, a song writer of New York, has written a song for the men on their favorite slang expression "You'll Like It." This expression is the invariable comment of the engineers here who see a bunch of men at a particularly hard job—such as wielding a pick under the broiling sun or hiking along the road under the weight of their packs.

TEUTON RETREAT A ROUT

German Withdrawal Forced by French Victory Declares French Official

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Back from a trip through French territory taken from the Germans in the Aisne-Marne drive, Andre Tardieu, high commisisoner of France to the United States, has informed the committee's headquarters here of his satisfaction over what he saw.

"On the fourth," said Mr. Tardieu's cablegram as made public, "I went with M. Clemenceau to Soissons and in the whole reconquered region. It is indisputable and it must be emphasized that there has been, not a German withdrawal followed by a French reoccupation, but a German withdrawal forced by a French victory.

"The fights of August 1 and 2, were especially hot. The prisoners gathered during these two days declared that they had received the order to hold their lines at any price. The heaps of ammunitions which I have seen on the spot are proving the confusion and the rout. The Germans did not have time enough either to destroy the bridges or to cut the roads. Soissons had been taken in the night of Friday to Saturday, and on Sunday we reached the place in a motor car, which demonstrates the haste of the retreat.

"The German morale seems shattered. Since uly 14, up to now, there have been engaged 100 German divisions, of which the most part is worn out.

"Prisoners report quarrels among Bavarians. The inhabitants of Oulchy-le-Chateau have seen the Germans leave in column-formation, shouting 'Nach Berlin' (Off to Berlin). And in Soissons, three very old inhabitants only remained. The desperate efforts of the Germans to drag them along with them prove their anxiety of not leaving behind any source of information. They have for the same purpose taken away thir dead."

DEMAND ON NEWSPAPER MEN.

Under "Work of Fight" Order Recalled by Board in Iowa.

Waterloo, Iowa, Aug. 10.—Letters were sent out by the Waterloo local exemption board yesterday recalling work-or-fight notices sent out to newspapers workers through an error on Tuesday.

The secretary of the board stated notices sent out were through clerical errors and were not meant to apply to newspaper reporters any more than to mechanical workers.

Officers connected with the administration of the draft law regulations said when the ruling of the Waterloo board was announced that the board's decision probably would be overturned by the district board, as newspaper work never had been included among the non-essential occupations outlined in the "work or fight" order.

Another sharp advance in the cotton market in New York yesterday carried near positions up approximately $5 a bale, as compared with yesterday's closing quotations, representing an increase of $9 a bale over yesterday's low level. Continued dry weather in the Southwest and favorable war news were contributory factors.

Insure the home NOW—don't delay another day. This is the season in which most fires occur. Insuring through this agency means ABSOLUTE PROTECTION at regular rates.

Your Winter's Coal Supply

On account of rulings of the U. S. Fuel Administration, it seems doubtful if Virginia will receive sufficient anthracite coal to supply the demands. If present rulings are maintained, this shortage will be very great in Alexandria and we earnestly advise our customers to put in a reasonable amount of bituminous coal as a safeguard against a coal shortage next winter.

We are now securing some very fine bituminous coal which we believe will work in all characters of coal burners but the Latrobe stoves.
